HOT SPRINGS, ARK., SWEEP BY FIRE; LOSS MAY BE $10,000,000

2,000 PERSONS ARE HOMELESS; NO LOSS OF LIFE REPORTED

Court House, High School Building, Large Hotels, Light, Water and Power Plants and Hundreds of Smaller Buildings Destroyed; Little Rock Fire Department Called

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 5.—Fire which started in a negro cabin at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon was slowly dying out at the foot of West Mountain, the southern extremity of Hot Springs, at midnight, after reducing to a smoldering mass of wreckage an area more than a mile in length and from seven to 10 blocks wide in the eastern section of the city. The monetary loss is roughly estimated at $10,000,000.

Cavalry and infantry arrived in Hot Springs late tonight and probably will order a military patrol of the burned district tomorrow. United States troops also are expected from Little Rock to add to the guard on the military reservation.

In the path of the flames were manufacturing houses, hotels, a number of the more pretentious residences and public buildings, which are in ruins.

It is estimated that 2,000 persons are homeless. So far as can be ascertained there were no fatalities, and the few persons who were injured only minor injuries.

At least 100 buildings destroyed were. The fire, which started over a bed of a cotton gin, spread rapidly and was extinguished by the Little Rock fire department. The fire originated within several blocks of the United States Army and Navy hospital and took a south and west course.

Fanned by High Wind. Driven by a high wind the fire spread rapidly. Within 15 minutes it was apparent that the fire fighting force of Hot Springs was inadequate and an appeal was made to Little Rock for assistance. Apparatus and men were sent but the fire was then beyond control. A committee was organized to watch the fire and to see that no one was injured. The city at midnight was in darkness.

The burned district for some distance south of the business section and several blocks of the shifting winds headed the fire toward this but each time the free use of explosives and an opportune change in the wind saved it. Before daylight the task of checking the flames was abandoned and the combined fire fighting forces turned their efforts toward keeping the fire away from the center of the city. In this they were successful.

DANCING GIRLS WITH ROMAN CIRCUS FACE STARVATION; COUNTY OFFICIALS GIVE AID

Show Company Attached; Employees Without Funds; File Suits for Back Salaries

An attachment suit brought in Justice Gandy's court by the Gilles Mercantile agency acting for the employees of the consolidated Roman Carnival company, which played here during the Shan Kive yesterday noon tied up the show, and started it on its way to a sheriff's sale. The claims of the employees for back wages and early last evening had amounted to about $700. The employees of the show men and women, 35 in all went without anything to eat from Thursday night until yesterday afternoon when the county commissioners furnished them meat and potatoes only enough to last them until they can get out of town or get work.

Salaries Due for Three Weeks. The show has been out of Denver for three weeks and it is said some of the employees have not received their pay during that time. Trouble in court for the management began Thursday when one of the performers a woman dancer, filed a suit against them for back pay. Yesterday morning the suit was dismissed and was combined with one in which the different employees asserted their claims to the Gilles Mercantile agency for collection. The show people can stop the suit by paying up the claims, but otherwise the show will be tied up for 30 days and the proceedings will end in a sheriff's sale. It was believed last night that the sale would be the final outcome of the matter.

MIDDLE WEST IN HEAT GRIP AGAIN

September Records Broken in Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 5.—New September heat records were established in parts of Kansas and Oklahoma today, and unusually high temperatures prevailed in Missouri.

In Kansas, the average maximum temperature was well above 100 degrees. At Junction City the mercury climbed to 108, within a degree of the season's record. A new heat record for the year was established at Lawrence, where the government thermometer registered 105½. This was the hottest September day on record at Topeka the temperature was 102.2-10.

The danger of accidental fire is so great that the Union Pacific Railroad company is burning every tuft of grass and brush along its right of way in Kansas.

The maximum temperature at Bartlesville, Okla., today was 104½, the highest record. The maximum in this city was 92.

PIERRE, S. D., Sept. 5.—The intense heat here today closed the schools at noon. The government thermometer registered 102.

Refused to Produce Books for Grand Jury; Nocturnal Ordeal Imprisoned

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—Judge Maurice T. Dooling, in the United States district court today, ordered a fine of $2,000 imposed on the Western Fuel company, and directed the imprisonment of David C. Norcross, secretary of the company, for contempt, because of the refusal to produce the company's books before the federal grand jury which is investigating alleged customs weighing frauds.

Counsel for the Western Fuel company and Secretary Norcross asked that execution of the court's orders be deferred until Monday, and this was granted by Judge Dooling.

BANDITS SECURE $16,000 IN CASH

HOLD UP THREE MEN FOR PAYROLL

Posse of 700 With Bloodhounds Scour South Carolina Hills for Lobbbers

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 5.—Three men, each armed with revolvers this afternoon held up a deputy sheriff and two employees of the J. G. White construction company at Parr Shanks, 20 miles from here and took from them $16,000 in currency representing the payroll of the company which is building a huge power dam. Tonight, 700 employees of the company with the sheriff and deputies of four counties with bloodhounds, are hunting for the lobbbers.

J. C. Joyner the deputy sheriff who accompanied the pay clerks, resisted the bandits and was shot in the thigh. His wound is not serious.

Occurs at Lonely Spot. The robbery occurred just after Paymaster Mahan, with Fred Bullman, assistant cashier, and Deputy Joyner had taken the money from the express office at Parr Shanks. To reach the construction company's office, where the money was to be distributed they had to follow the railway track through a deep cut. As the three men were passing a box car which was standing on the railway track a trio of men, their faces blackened to disguise them, stepped out and covered them with revolvers.

Deputy Joyner reached for his gun, and the robbers opened fire. Joyner fell, shot through the thigh, and the others yielded. The robbers took the sack containing the money and escaped to the woods.

The White construction company has offered a reward of $500 for the capture of the three bandits. The officers are about a day as to the identity of the robbers.

WRECK DUE TO 'BANJO' SIGNAL?

RAILROAD ENGINEERS TO 'DRIFT' BY IN FOGGY WEATHER BEFORE THEY CAN STOP

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 5.—The so-called "banjo" signal system installed on the New Haven system nearly 25 years ago was charged in sworn testimony today with responsibility for the death of 21 persons in the wreck on that road last Tuesday. The testimony was given at the interstate commerce commission's inquiry to determine the cause of the disaster.

The "banjo" system was admitted by officials of the road to be inferior to up-to-date systems in use on other roads. Lacking a "caution" signal as protection against a danger signal as in modern systems, the "banjo" type, according to half a dozen trainmen, caused engineers to "drift by" their signals in foggy weather before they could stop their trains.

Such was the reason for the North Haven wreck according to Engineer August B. Miller, who was at the throttle of the locomotive of the White Mountain express when it plunged into the rear of the Bar Harbor express on the fatal Tuesday morning. Train sheets introduced in evidence today, however, showed that Miller's train was speeding over 51 miles an hour.

Had Asked for New System. More than a year ago the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers protested against the banjo system as not offering sufficient protection, and asked that it be abolished. Correspondence to this effect was placed in evidence.

That an order to stop the White Mountain express at Wallingford, three miles north of the wreck, was sent from New Haven and then rescinded was one feature of the testimony. This was told by John C. Kelly, the New Haven train dispatcher who produced train sheets showing that the White Mountain express, the rear of the procession of six trains which passed Wallingford within 12 minutes. The first five of them Kelly testified were on the 10-mile stretch between Wallingford and An Line Junction just north of here all at the same time.

Kelly said he had originally given the order to stop because of the long time the first of the five trains took to reach An Line Junction and had rescinded it in a panic when from the Junction that train had not arrived there.

Flagman Muray of the Bar Harbor train who with Engineer Miller was arrested last night as a coroner's jury accused of criminal responsibility for the wreck was released today on bonds furnished by order of President Elliott of the New Haven. Miller is also at liberty on bond.

MEATS IN DENVER INCREASE 25 PER CENT

CONTRACTION IN CREDITS IN CERTAIN

---Say Bankers

Think Currency Bill Can Be 'Worked Out' to Meet the Conditions

Loans and Credits Will Have to Be Reduced $1,800,000, They Say

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Prominent bankers assured the senate banking and currency committee today that they thought any problems of credit-contraction resulting from enactment of the pending administration currency bill could be "worked out" so that the country's business would not be affected seriously.

A possible contraction of $1,800,000,000 in the present structure of bank credits was given by James B. Forgan, president of the First National bank of Chicago, as his estimate of the reduction that would have to be made in present loans, to meet the changed conditions.

Point Out Defects. "I do not want to scare anyone," he added. "This is simply the amount of contraction that would seem to have to take place to continue the banks on their present condition of credits."

Mr. Forgan, George M. Reynolds of the Continental and Commercial bank of Chicago, and former representative of J. Hill of Connecticut took part in the presentation of the bankers' views throughout the day. Mr. Hill emphasized what he called "a fatal defect" the fact that the bill did not make the banks responsible for the issue of notes, and relieve the government of liability. Mr. Reynolds criticized the features requiring compulsory membership in the regional reserve banks, compulsory reduction by the regional banks, and the failure to provide for the banks a dollar of the federal reserve bank.

Mr. Forgan gave figures to demonstrate that under present banking conditions $5 of credit is given throughout the country on each $1 of actual money reserves. He estimated that if one-third of the present reserves were transferred to the regional reserve banks, notwithstanding the discounts banks might then receive from the regional banks, loans and credits would have to be reduced by $1,800,000,000 to maintain the existing credit ratio of $5 to $1.

Mr. Hill said no other nation had attempted to make itself responsible for the payment of notes issued through the banks, and insisted the government would find it impossible to secure an adequate reserve for the purpose, while in its attempt to supervise the issuance of all notes, it in effect would become the final judge as to the individual credit of every bank borrower in the country. It was a mistake, he said, to make regional reserve banks liable for the instant payment in gold of notes that had been issued through any other regional bank. He advocated notes issued and guaranteed by the regional banks, and payable in gold only at the bank of issue.

TWO KILLED WHEN AUTO TIRE BURSTS

Harley Endicott, Brother Noted Racer, One of Victims; Three Are Injured

JACKSON, Mich., Sept. 5.—Harley Endicott of Anderson, Ind., a brother of Farmer Bill Endicott the noted automobile racer, and Mary Sarata of Jackson, a 16-year old spectator were killed and three persons injured here this afternoon when Endicott's automobile, hurtling around the racetrack, crashed through a fence after one of the front tires blew up.

The injured are George Benedict of Los Angeles who was acting as Endicott's mechanic, Mrs. Mabel Wallingford and Frances Hall 13 years old both of Jackson. Benedict's condition is in doubt. Neither Mrs. Walters nor the Hall girl was seriously hurt.

Endicott was driving a 100 horsepower cutting car preparatory to an exhibition race against Benedict here tomorrow when the accident occurred. Benedict was at his side. The machine turned a sharp curve as it swung into the home stretch and with a report like a pistol shot the tire burst. Before the crash which ended both sides of the track could realize what had happened the machine skidded about 25 feet forward and plunged directly at a flimsy fence to the side of the course. Endicott was crushed to death against an iron railing which the wrecked car snapped as though it were a pipe stem. Benedict was hurled from the car and one of the car wheels passed over his body. He was taken to a local hospital and later tonight had only partly recovered consciousness. He is believed to be injured internally.

CHINESE REBELS SACK NANKING?

AMERICANS ESCAPE SERIOUS MOLESTATION

Fall of City Officially Marks End of Rebellion; Other Provinces Are Quiet

PEKIN, Sept. 5.—Dispatches received from Nanking report that the northern armies completely sacked that city. The looting and other excesses lasted three days. The soldiers visited the American consulate and demanded money but Mrs. Alvin W. Gilbert, wife of the vice consul, during the absence of her husband, pluckily talked the men out of their designs, reminding them that the Americans were their friends. The soldiers then left the consulate.

Another party of soldiers attempted to enter the American Presbyterian mission. They threatened to shoot the Rev. Alfred V. Gray, the resident missionary, because he refused to open the gate.

Laters also tried to force the gate of the Rev. J. M. B. Gill's American Protestant Episcopal mission. They fired several shots through the closed gate but when it was finally opened the looters observed foreigners inside, they departed.

The fall of Nanking to the northern forces marks the close of the rebellion, as all provinces are now reported to be quiet.

Proposals involving the election of a president of the republic before the drafting of the constitution has been completed, are now before parliament. The Gazette today announces the resignation of the cabinet and says the personnel of a new ministry will be submitted for the approval of parliament next week.

Entire Surveying Party Is Arrested for Theft Redding

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Sept. 5.—An entire government surveying party was arrested on the charge of burglary here today, and, pleading not guilty at a preliminary hearing, were held in jail.

The party was taken to the United States marshal's office at Steamboat Springs, where they were held in custody.

It is charged that the men entered a farmhouse near their work and took from it articles of bedding and coverings. It is said that the engineers' camp had become depleted of articles which, at this time of the year in such a high altitude, would provide sufficient warmth.

Senator Teller's oldest son defended the engineers at the preliminary hearing, and he, with a United States attorney, it is said, will represent them throughout the trial. None of the men arrested will talk of the affair.

The arrest was made by the sheriff after the farmer who owns the property had sworn out a warrant against the engineers.

DROWNS IN SIGHT OF WIFE AND 10-YEAR-OLD SON

PINE GROVE, Colo., Sept. 5.—Warren H. Ellis of Denver was drowned in Crystal lake near here today, while his wife, 10-year-old son and a group of 10 persons stood on the bank unable to save him. Ellis it is believed, was seized with cramps.

WASHINGTON OFFICIALS AWAIT ARRIVAL OF HUERTA'S ENVOY

Gamboa Denies Knowledge of Zamacona's Mission to the United States

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Developments in the Mexican situation probably will await the arrival in Washington of Manuel de Zamacona, an Indian personal envoy of the Huerta government, to continue with the Washington administration the negotiations begun by John Lind personal representative of President Wilson in Mexico.

Administration officials had not decided tonight whether they would receive Zamacona unless he brought positive assurances of Huerta's elimination from the situation in Mexico, and was ready to affirm the other points in the American proposals for the establishment of peace.

Some of the Washington officials felt that the United States has made its position sufficiently clear through the parleys conducted by Mr. Lind and the address of President Wilson to congress. Further negotiations in the same points they regard as useless and merely a process of delay. There is a disposition however to receive Zamacona in view of the courtesy shown Mr. Lind.

Trying to Float Loan Also. Zamacona's mission is said to contemplate not only the furtherance of the negotiations looking to

THAW NOT TO BE DEPORTED FOR PRESENT

Gets Hearing Before King's Bench at Montreal on September 15

COATICOOK, Que., Sept. 5.—Harry K. Thaw will be produced before the full king's bench, appeals side, at Montreal September 15. Meanwhile, he may be detained here or at Sherbrooke, or taken to Montreal on moment's notice, at the discretion of the immigration authorities. Two of his counsel, J. N. Greenhalgh and N. K. Laflamme, obtained a double writ of habeas corpus and prohibition against Montreal today and whirled in a special train into Coaticook, where not long before the immigration authorities had ordered Thaw's deportation from the Dominion.

Counsel for Thaw, who had remained in Coaticook, had announced that the writ was returnable forthwith and a special train was made up to take the prisoner to Montreal tonight. A great crowd collected about the station where Thaw was confined, and it was not until 8 o'clock that it became known that he might remain here several days as the writ is not returnable until September 16.

Crimes of Thaw. Thaw is charged with the 1912 murder of Mrs. Alice Woodhull. He was arrested at the scene of the crime and held in custody. He was later released on bail and fled to the United States.

It is a little town produced "sensation" Coaticook did today. First, came Thaw's arrest and release on bail on a charge that he had played poker yesterday on railroad property, with some newspaper men. Then came word that Thaw's lawyers had obtained in Montreal the writ demanding his production in court there.

Thaw Ordered Deported. Meantime, the special board of inquiry ordered Thaw's deportation to Vermont under two clauses of the immigration act, namely, that he had entered Canada by stealth, and within five years had been an inmate of an institution for the insane. Both these decisions Thaw's lawyers appealed.

The immigration officers, headed by E. Balke Robertson, were powerless and Thaw remained in the detention room over the Grand Trunk railway station. Finally the Thaw lawyers in Montreal chartered a special train and came here with the writ itself, serving it this evening.

Jerome Arrested. Jerome's arrest was due to two causes and was not prompted in any way by the Thaw lawyers. One and all, they expressed indignation at the arrest.

City Weigher Urges Broader Ordinance

In his report to the city council yesterday the inspector of weights urged that the council take up the ordinance governing licensed weighers so as to include dealers in meats, potatoes and other products, that grocer wagons be copied and tests made of the weights of articles retailed in small quantities. He also asked that tests be made of the weights of flour and other commodities sold in sacks.

The report recommended that inspectors of automatic measuring tanks be made several times each year, and that owners of such tanks be required to have United States inspected measures to test their machines. This request, the inspector pointed out, was the result of the inspection of 14 tanks used for measuring oil and gasoline, of which he found only two of set. Both, he said, were in garages having such measures. The trouble, the inspector said, was due to lack of inspection and adjustment.

During the month of August the inspector weighed loads aggregating about 14 tons, of which one weighed amounted to 145 pounds and underweight to 55.

Judge Kinney Denies "Hurry Up" Divorce

A divorce asked in a suit brought by Jack C. Vance against Ruby Vance was denied by Judge W. P. Kinney in the county court yesterday. The first time in months that a divorce has been denied in the local courts. The suit was filed only a few days ago, and Mrs. Vance had consented to an immediate trial of the case and had waived her right to be present. Judge Kinney, however, characterized it as a "hurry-up" divorce, sought because the couple fell out, and refused to grant it. The couple were married in November, 1910, and lived together until about a week ago. Vance is a railroad fireman. Some of the causes of complaint brought out in the trial were that he turned all his pay over to his wife each month, and that once when he wanted some money, that she would not give it to him; that she sometimes stayed out late at night, and that he sometimes had to get his own meals. The complaint alleged extreme and repeated acts of cruelty, but none of these things, Judge Kinney held, came within the specifications of the statute to prove the cruelty. Judge Kinney said yesterday that this is the second "hurry-up" divorce that has been denied in the county court. "Once before, a case came up of a couple who married after they had been acquainted only two weeks, and who sought a divorce after they had been married less than 30 days. Judge Kinney held that they had not yet had time to get acquainted with each other, and refused the divorce.

To Cure Salt Rheum and Scaly Skin

A Most Effective Treatment, Quick in Results.

Salt rheum, scaly skin and other itching skin ailments may be cured by frequent applications of witch hazel. But the cure must come from the activity of the fine network of blood vessels that make up the skin formation. You should use S. S. S. for the blood. This splendid remedy is a marvel for salt rheum, eczema, lupus, psoriasis and scrofula. Ask at any drug store for a bottle of S. S. S., and you're on the road to health. The action of this remarkable remedy is direct, positive, certain in its influence. It is one of those rare medical formulas which act in the blood with the same degree of certainty that is found in all natural tendencies. The manner in which it dominates and controls the mysterious transference of the rich, pure arterial blood for the impure blood is marvelous. Out through every skin pore acids, germs and other blood impurities are forced in the form of invisible vapor, the lungs breathe it out, the liver is stimulated to consume a great proportion of impurities, the stomach and intestines cease to convey harmful germs into the blood, the bowels, kidneys, bladder and all excretories of the body are marshaled into a fighting force to expel every vestige of impurity. Get a bottle of this famous remedy today, and if your case is stubborn or peculiar, write to The Swift Specific Co., 128 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

SHAN KIVE MANAGERS TELL OF TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS INCIDENT TO CELEBRATION

Some Helped and Others Pulled Back; Cash on Hand Will More Than Meet Expenses

Yesterday Colorado Springs and the entire Pikes Peak region had, that dark, dull-brown feeling of the day after. The four days of the Shan Kive had been a joy ride of such variety and intensity that the people had it all taken out of them. The lights, the music, the madness of that brilliant finish, the carnival ball, were followed by a real reaction.

At headquarters everyone was busy cleaning up the financial and other ends of the big event. Secretary and Manager Frank A. Perkins hopes to conclude the business in a few days, but there are always a lot of bills hanging back or turning up unexpectedly, which drag the final settlements along. However, while admitting that he and his staff are pretty nearly "Shan Kive" in death, he found time to talk a bit about the work.

Satisfied With Results.
"We feel perfectly satisfied the way things turned out," he said. "A few mistakes were made, as there always are, and some things did not turn out as we expected. It has been big and it has been there. Anybody could have all the life color and excitement and not pay out 15 cents all week. If you wanted to be still more economical, you could have a good time and spend only 10 cents. Anybody who would kick on that, or because he happened not to like some one thing or another that occurred is too short for me."

"And how about the expenses?" was asked.
"Plenty of money to pay all bills and maybe have a bit over, as we did last year. We have known all along where we could get out, but bad weather would have wiped out the bank account and left the committee in poor shape. I cannot tell exactly what the cost of the show is. The total of subscriptions was less than $1,000, and largely came in considerable amounts. The total is less than the town has subscribed two or three different times to send bands down east to whop it up and advertise the town. It is not enough money to put a good float in some of the eastern festivals, which one never hears of so far as the press is concerned, but we have a lot of fun out of it and get some good advertising, too. If you hear anybody talking learnedly about the big sums of money that the citizens subscribed for the Shan Kive, you just tell them these facts for me."

Business Suffers But Little.
"Some of our commissionmen took time to look about a bit during the week, and they are satisfied that the business men did not lose business. I know of one man, a contractor, that closed up Thursday night before, but had ended because it rained out of his head and soda water. I saw the soda water wagon from Manitou make a half-dozen trips into the grounds Thursday afternoon delivering their product. These are little things. The town was full of people from out in the country, and they have the money this year and they spent it. There were three parades in the city during the week that kept the downtown streets full of people, and two night gatherings when the crowds were immense. It is not the fault of the Shan Kive if they did not spend their money, or the business men were unable to attract it from them."

"I don't want to have to manage another of these affairs under similar circumstances, the back pull is too strong, and it was too much for me. It was heart-breaking not to be able to get people to believe in the work that was being done, and to meet every effort with sneers and criticism. Why, we could not get anybody to take the confetti, concession, and had to back it ourselves. The Shan Kive had been running two days before anybody came in and took the soft drink privilege. I understand the man who had the eating privilege did a fine business, but we couldn't get any organized catering outfit to take it over. Nobody would take the dancing. Mr. Lowe tried it out one night at the Indian stand and proved it a money maker. Maybe next time they will know better, if there is a next time, but it was chilling to those who were trying to get up some enthusiasm."

Same Brighter Side, Too.
"However, there is another side to it, and a mighty pleasant one at that. In the way some of the support came. The willingness and hard work that many citizens gave should be commended. I don't recall just now all who helped, but some I do. There is James F. Burns, who, I believe, was the largest individual contributor to the Shan Kive, when one takes into account that he gave a big check and also gave the use of the office, with light and heat for three months, and many other little things."

"Raymond Lease and the First National bank gave the use of the park for nothing. Then the city commissioners and the county commissioners had it put in shape for use, and their foremen gave us splendid support. The Master Plumbers association not only subscribed money, but laid over 3,000 feet of pipe for us. The city officers of Colorado City furnished the sprinkler and paid a man to run it for us all during the week. The electric light company gave a good money subscription and also all the juice we used. Assistant Chief M. C. Donahue and the boys of the fire department gave us splendid support in putting on the two parades. Then there is A. W. Markshelter, who gave me the use of an automobile whenever I needed it, which was just as good as cash. W. C. Dotterer gave us the use of some of his big cars several times. Then there are the various committees who ought to be praised, like C. B. Ferrin, who handled the parade; Ted Powell, with the Indians; H. O. Giddings, with the masquerade ball; and Harry T. Lowe, who had the hard work of handling the concessionaires."

"I could keep this sort of thing up for an hour and then not finish," concluded the secretary.

OLD SHOESTRING MAN HAS BEEN EVERYWHERE

Crippled, He Has Toured World; Profers Hardships and Freedom to Life in Institution

Undaunted even though he has had but one leg for the last 13 years, during which time he has covered the entire United States and made a living by selling shoestrings, John E. Sur, 60, a former member of the Brazilian and United States navies and for 35 years a sailor, applied to the Associated Charities yesterday for aid to get to Kansas City. When told that the matter of transportation looked impossible, but that steps would be taken to have him admitted to the Old Soldiers and Sailors home, the old seaman proudly refused to consider such a plan.

"I've made my living, crippled as I am, for 13 years," he protested, "and I wouldn't feel right even if it would be easier there. I'd not be satisfied or have my freedom. I've not many more years to live, and I believe I can make it go without relying on the government."

Sur is the crippled shoestring seller whom Colorado Springs people all know by sight because of his variable salutation, "Ladies, gentlemen, shoestrings." All summer the old man has stumped the streets with his wares, asking out a bare and yet an independent living. At night he sleeps where opportunity offers. His sales run from 50 cents to $2 a day, and he modestly confessed that he has saved a few dollars here this summer, but not nearly enough to take him to Kansas City.

Sur has been all over the world and only last year was in Mexico during the time of hostilities there. For many years he has peddled shoestrings in Los Angeles. He speaks Mexican, Italian, Spanish, German and mixed languages, and is a native of Germany.

SECRETARY HOUSTON IS ASKED TO VISIT SPRINGS
An invitation to Secretary of Agriculture Houston to visit Colorado Springs following his trip to Denver September 20 and inspect the city was forwarded on the north slope of Pikes Peak, as did Secretary of the Interior Lane recently, has been extended through Congressman H. H. Seldomridge.

City Attorney Hall wrote Mr. Seldomridge and called special attention to the city's hope that if Mr. Houston can be induced to personally inspect the situation he will be favorably disposed toward the city's claim to title of the land.

If Mr. Houston comes he will be entertained and taken to the summit of Pikes Peak and shown the desirability of the transfer of the title to about 1,000 acres on the north slope to the city for watershed purposes.

STRAITON TRUSTEES WANT LOCAL BURBANK

Will Send Man to California to Study Plant Species for Farm at Home Here

Trustees of the Myron Stratton Home corporation intend to give to Colorado a Luther Burbank or a man whose experiments will be little less valuable than those of the Great Californian.

Having fully decided to furnish this state with a great experimental agriculturist, the trustees are now casting about for a man with qualifications for the position. The plan is to send a man to California to take a course of instruction from Burbank and learn of some of his special methods in the cultivation of new species. The course should require but six months.

Upon returning to Colorado the man will be placed in charge of the experimental work and scientific farming department of the Myron Stratton home. The results of his experiments will be given to the state, that agriculture here may be brought up to the highest point of perfection.

A course in some agricultural college is practically essential for applicants for the position. The man sent to California must be well versed in farming that he may acquire the maximum benefit from his course under Burbank. Although the trustees have several young men in view, none has as yet been chosen.

According to information received yesterday from the offices of the Midwest Oil company in Casper, Wyo., the net profits of the company for August, 1913, were approximately $150,000, in which a regular increase, month by month is included. On this basis the net profits of the company for the year will be close to $1,800,000, a record which the company is trying to make.

BIG INCREASE IN AMOUNT OF WATER IN RESERVOIRS

Colorado Springs' mountain reservoirs contain an unusually large amount of water at present, due to the heavy rains of last month, according to the monthly report of Water Superintendent B. H. McReynolds, issued yesterday. The increase over a month ago is 150,000,000 gallons.

The report shows that there is now on hand a total of 2,080,000,000 gallons of water, of which 1,770,000 gallons is in the mountain reservoirs and 310,000,000 gallons in the Pike View irrigation reservoir and Prospect lake. This is an increase of 150,000,000 over a month ago. The stream flow amounts to 13,000,000 gallons daily, an increase of 3,000,000 gallons, and there is a seepage of 1,000,000 gallons a day.

During the month of August the consumption amounted to the huge total of 260,387,000 gallons, or an average of 8,399,580 a day. During the month 23,000,000 gallons were stored for Victor. The amount of water in the various reservoirs is as follows: No. 1, 50,000,000 gallons; No. 2, 187,000,000; No. 3, 180,000,000; No. 4, 570,000,000; No. 5, 800,000,000; Lake Moraine, 190,000,000.

Elks Will Not Build National Home Here

All efforts of Colorado Springs to secure the new national home of the Elks have been of no avail, the home commission having decided to keep the institution at Bedford City, Va., its present location.

Such was the word received by local Elks yesterday from Fred Robinson of Dubuque, Ia., grand secretary of the order and secretary of the home commission.

Bedford, Ind., offered strong inducements to the Elks home commission to place the institution in that city. Although the proposition was investigated it was not considered. Colorado Springs' offer was never considered.

SHAN KIVE AFTERMATH

THE Shan Kive festival, which came to an end Thursday evening, is the third celebration of the kind held here. It was started two years ago in response to a general feeling that Colorado Springs ought to have some sort of summer carnival as an additional entertainment for its visitors.

The work done by the men who have successfully served on the Shan Kive committees has necessarily been mostly experimental. They have had to feel their way, to try out one feature after another to learn what is best suited to local conditions. Moreover, they have had to cut the coat to fit the cloth. It would be easy enough to provide more elaborate and costly entertainment if the money was forthcoming, but since their funds have been limited to what could be raised by public subscription and the gate receipts, some of the best features of such celebrations have necessarily been omitted.

Two years ago the principal feature was an aviation meet. It was successful, for both aviators made several spectacular flights. But most people do not know by what a narrow margin this success was achieved. The high altitude made it a very difficult matter to get the machines off the ground, and the chance of failure is too great to risk a repetition of the event. Hence aviation was abandoned as a feature of the Shan Kive.

The next year a balloon race was arranged as the principal attraction. In a number of eastern cities balloon races have been held with marked success and some of the great gas bags have attained distances of more than 2,000 miles. But when it was tried here the altitude again proved an obstacle. Moreover the gas did not have sufficient lifting power and the balloon flights were disappointing.

These two incidents of Shan Kive history afford some idea of the difficulties which must be met by the committee in charge. They can only experiment with one feature after another, discarding those which are found to be inexpedient and retaining those which are successful. And it is gratifying to know that two features have been tried with unequalled success each time—the Indian carnival and the mask ball. Public interest in Indians never flags. Everybody stops to look at Poor Lo and make comments on his picturesque appearance, even if he does nothing but walk down the street, and when he begins to dance he is always sure of an appreciative audience. For three successive years the Indians have been the most attractive feature of the Shan Kive, especially to our eastern visitors, for whose entertainment the celebration is really held.

But now there is a possibility that something will have to be found to take their place, for the Government is becoming more and more reluctant to permit them to leave the reservation for exhibition. There is no assurance that the Indians cannot be brought here again, but in view of the difficulty with which they were secured this year, it is well to consider what attraction can be substituted for them. The cowboys are and always will be a valuable attraction, and there is nothing to prevent repeating this feature of the program year after year. Indeed, it ought to be developed into as big an affair as the Cheyenne Frontier Days celebration.

None of the thousands who attended the mask ball Thursday evening can doubt the overwhelming value of this attraction as a means of entertaining the people and adding to the success of the Shan Kive. Its success is not due merely to its novelty, for the crowd this year was greater than last year, it is due to the beauty and fascination of the scene presented. The mask ball evidently will become increasingly popular, and it will be necessary next year to make provision for an even greater crowd of spectators.

Thus it appears that there are only two conspicuously successful features of the event which can be counted on for the future—the cowboy show and the mask ball. If the Indians can be had there will be a third, but this is uncertain. The conclusion is inevitable then that if the Shan Kive is to be a permanent summer festival in Colorado Springs its field must be broadened and its plan of organization strengthened.

We believe that a large majority of the public are firmly convinced of the wisdom of holding such a festival and would regret to see it discontinued. If this assumption is correct the subject should be considered in its broadest aspect by the Chamber of Commerce with a view to making a definite plan for the future. And its consideration should not be delayed until next spring. The problem ought to be tackled now. The Advertising Committee, which is in charge of the Shan Kive, should make a careful investigation of the festivals and carnivals of various sorts held in other cities, and learn wherein they have failed or succeeded. It ought then to put the Shan Kive on a historical basis, utilizing the stories and traditions of the early Spanish explorers in the West.

This subject is full of romance, and since there is no necessity of sticking rigidly to historical truth, there is a splendid opportunity for working up a legend similar to those utilized by other cities in organizing such festivals as the Veiled Prophets of St. Louis, the Priests of Pallas of Kansas City, the Mardi Gras of New Orleans and Ak-Sar-Ben of Omaha to name four of the most successful.

Even the critics of the Shan Kive as it is now conducted will admit that it is desirable to have some such celebration here rather than none at all. Instead of limiting their efforts to mere criticism would it not be well for them to show a helpful spirit of cooperation by making practical suggestions for betterment.

OPEN-PARLIAMENT

(All letters intended for the Open Parliament must bear the name and address of the writer, and be forwarded to the Editor of the Gazette, Colorado Springs, Sept. 6, 1913.)

The attractions along The Trail as a part of the Shan Kive festival and the location out in the Garden of the Gods have been subject of general criticism, and I take exception to the answer to these criticisms contained in your editorial of Wednesday morning.

The Trail is not easily accessible from Colorado Springs. It is impossible for the street car line to furnish sufficient cars to move promptly the large crowds going out and back, and it is half a mile walk from the street car line to the grounds and the road show drop with dust.

As to the "attractions" when you reach the grounds—the exhibition by the cowboys in broncho riding, etc., is excellent, but the other amusements and entertainments are largely of a most disreputable sort, including gambling devices, hoochy-koochy dances, etc., and I cannot understand why the solemn grandeur of the Garden of the Gods should be degraded in this way. Of course the street car company is getting a big revenue, and the management of The Trail is doubtless getting a good revenue from the "attractions." There are open spaces here in Colorado Springs where the exhibitions of horsemanship might be given—the baseball grounds north of the Rock Island railroad would be an ideal place. The other "attractions" would not be tolerated in Colorado Springs and it may be that is one of the reasons why the management located The Trail elsewhere. I do protest, however, against the degradation of the Garden of the Gods in this way.

 From the New York Tribune.
 It is not always so easy to add up the value of a great moral crusade to the community as it is proving to be in the case of Miss September Morn. She is the sparkling young woman who was banished from a smart store window about two months ago for her most active private career of public moral reform.

A firm of picture dealers is being sued for infringing the copyright on this painting, and the allegation is made that they have accumulated profits of $25,000 from the sale of the pirated pictures since the moral victory which resulted in the banishment of the big picture from the uptown window.

Obviously, the distribution of such a number of September Morn's portraits among the youths and maidens of the land is a great stroke for uplift. If the bathing lady is as naughty as Mr. Comstock says "Vice is a monster of so frightful mien, as to be hated needs but to be seen." The censor of morals has contributed to the generation of a tremendous wave of hatred through this increase in the facilities for viewing vice.

Bridgeport, Conn.

Bridgeport, Conn., was one of the last cities to get under the wire before the 100,000 class closed in the census of 1910. It showed 102,000 inhabitants and members of the commercial club still shudder when they think of what might have happened if the odd 2,000 had bought tickets to Hartford instead.

Few Americans visit Bridgeport but extracts from the city can be found in every American home. Bridgeport's hobby is manufacturing. Its chief monuments are factory chimneys and its factory whistles at noon sound like a giant callopie. If all the caskets made in Bridgeport were put together, they would squeeze the United States into two hemispheres.

Bridgeport is situated at the bottom of Connecticut on Long Island Sound. It has a railroad, the New York, New Haven & Hartford, which is also good and runs on Long Island Sound which lies in front of the city and furnishes it with salt breezes and sea views at all hours. Bridgeport was first founded in 1639, under the name of Pequabuck. This situated its growth for many years.

During the Revolution Bridgeport supplied most of the privateers for the young nation and many a fine old Bridgeport family got its first start when its great-grandfathers shot up the British merchant marine and came home with boatloads of merchandise for which bills were never rendered. Bridgeport, however, was really founded on the map by Thomas T. Wagner, who removed there in 1848, and began the collection of his justly celebrated circus. Ever since that time Bridgeport has been the most popular winter resort for elephants, tigers, bear constructors, clowns and other circus exhibits, and Bridgeport boarding houses in cold season are densely populated with acrobats, Circassian beauties, tattooed men, fat ladies and living skeletons.

Bridgeport's greatest citizen was Elias Howe, who potted around in a garret until he invented the sewing machine and started the city on its industrious career. Inventing was the great feat of the early Connecticut Yankee, and the city in that state which kept its Yankees at home became inevitably great.

When Unselfishness is Not Unselfishness

BY RUTH CAMERON

"I do believe Dorothy Sears is the most generous girl I ever knew," said the lady next door. "She spent the whole day helping one of her neighbors pack her trunk. You know she has a perfect genius for packing. She can get more into a trunk than anyone I ever knew. She certainly is a thoroughly unselfish girl."

The lady who always knows somehow and the lady next door were both visiting on my veranda when the lady next door delivered this eulogy.

While she was speaking I noticed that the lady who always knows somehow bent low over her embroidery with that quizzical ghost of a smile which means that she doesn't exactly agree with the speaker's opinion.

After the lady next door had left I requested an explanation of the smile.

"Well," said the lady who always knows somehow, "I didn't mean to say anything, but if you must know, it amused me to hear Dorothy called a thoroughly unselfish girl. I know her well, and she isn't what I call unselfish at all. What about her doing all that packing?"

Well, she has a passion for system; she packs beautifully, and she likes to pack, just as we all like to do things we do especially well, moreover she likes nothing else to do yesterday. Besides, she likes to be thanked and like all the rest of us she enjoys doing kind things for people when they are things she enjoys doing anyway.

"You don't seem at all fond of Dorothy," I commented, as the lady paused in her remarks.

"Oh, dear," I didn't mean to give that impression," said she, ruefully. "Dorothy is a nice girl and I like her very well. It's just the quality I hate—that pseudo unselfishness that will do anything on earth for anyone so long as it's something one doesn't particularly mind doing, and something showy enough to bring plenty of praise."

Real unselfishness is a rare and beautiful quality and it somehow rouses me to see this cheap imitation taken for it.

You know perfectly well if Dorothy had been invited to go on a motor trip, she wouldn't have stayed at home to help her friend pack. Or if it had been a question of taking care of children, which she hates to do, she would never have offered to help. You understand I don't blame her at all. She is just an ordinary pleasure-loving girl, but I don't think she deserves to be called very unselfish. Unselfishness is a far bigger thing. It means doing the things you don't like to do and doing them when you don't feel like it and giving up things you really care for and wanting to make other people happy without caring to be praised for it."

The lady broke off and laughed at her own earnestness. I didn't mean to preach a sermon," she said. "Only it's something I've thought about a great deal and I think most of us would be less unselfish if we realized when unselfishness is not unselfishness."

YAGUI INDIANS WARN AMERICANS TO FLEE

Desert State Forces and No Show Hostility to All Foreigners

NOGALES, Ariz., Sept. 5.—The Yaquis of Sonora have begun to threaten Americans. Desertions of the Indians from the state troop ranks continue. The insurgent forces are retreating before a federal advance north of Guaymas.

This information reached the border today from independent American sources. It was reported that a notice to leave the country had been posted on property of the Richardson Corporation, an American corporation, with holdings in the Yaqui river district. The warning was signed by three Yaqui chiefs.

The insurgent state force retired today to Ortiz, leaving an outpost at Maytorena. This left the federal in possession of Empalme and its vicinity. The government troops were reported to be moving slowly to the north.

The demand of the Yaquis for the immediate return of their lands, taken from them during the presidency of Porfirio Diaz, has been repeated. Much of the former Indian reservations had been colonized by Americans. During former Yaqui uprisings there never has been hostility or harm to foreigners. The warning to the American company is the first of its kind, it is said.

CRAZY TEACHER RUNS AMUCK; 15 PEOPLE KILLED

MUEHLHAUSEN, Germany, Sept. 5.—Fifteen persons are dead here as the result of a school teacher named Wagner running amuck last night with several revolvers and a plentiful supply of ammunition. Eight persons died shortly after Wagner opened up his murderous fusillade and seven others of 20 wounded succumbed today. Four more persons are in a precarious condition.

Wagner previously had killed his wife and four children in the nearby town of Dogenroch, and then came to Muehlhausen to continue his deadly work.

When Wagner finally was overpowered by infuriated townspeople, badly injured by blows from clubs and wounds from pitchforks, it was believed that he was insane. A commission of examining judges, however, after a lengthy hearing in which Wagner rationally answered all their questions, declared the murderer to be sane.

SEN. NEWLANDS WILL SUPPORT THE BILL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Senator Francis G. Newlands of Nevada, whose stand on the tariff bill have caused his Democratic colleagues some concern, brought relief to the minds of administration leaders upon his return from the west today. The Nevada senator, though determined to make a fight within the party lines, assured his colleagues that he would stand by the bill as it reached the senate for a vote.

"I never have contemplated at any time making any fight on the tariff outside the party caucus," was Senator Newlands' statement tonight just before entering the Democratic caucus, which was expected to wind up consideration of matters at variance within the party lines.

Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, said tonight that he would not seek to limit Senator La Follette in his discussion of the textile schedules and for that reason might not get a vote before Monday.

Protestants, Catholics and Jews to Combine to Guard Girls

A Nationwide Cooperative Travelers' Aid Society in Process of Formation—Vigilance to Outvie Vigor of Vice. Seventeen Hundred Girls Disappear Within a Single Year En Route Between New York and Chicago. Y. W. C. A. to Represent... Assistant

BY THE RELIGIOUS RAMBLER

Entirely un-pre-arranged, and escaping the notice of even the religious press, there is now afoot officially, a movement to federate all of the existing agencies for the protection of travelers into a National Travelers Aid society. This will include the national bodies of the Roman Catholic church, of the Jewish organizations, and of the Protestant churches, the latter to be represented by the Young Women's Christian association. This National Travelers Aid society is expected to be in operation before the opening of the first exposition in 1915. The initiative in this movement is being taken by Miss Grace Dodge, the well-known philanthropist of New York city.

The ugly fact has become inescapable that travel has special dangers for girls and women. The simplicity and goodness of life in the country and the small towns in no wise fits young folk to go into the big world, for organized vice is becoming daily more ingenious in its terrible search for recruits. Official reports show that within a single year 1,700 young women disappeared while en route between New York and Chicago.

Matching Wits With the Wicked. New conditions have made it clear to the far-sighted women at the head of various agencies for the help of immigrants and travelers and of girls away from home that no local organization is at present equal to the new conditions. Even the national bodies of a racial and denominational character find that their net of protection is not sufficiently wide to gather in all who need their help. The Jewish and the Catholic societies, because of their interest in immigrants, have been especially alert in dealing with this question of aid for travelers; and the Young Women's Christian association has also made it a department of its activity for many years.

These three bodies have decided to get together, and discussions and negotiations are now pending. It becomes necessary, for instance, for them to agree upon a national uniform so that a traveler anywhere on this continent—and ultimately anywhere in the world—will recognize the representative of the Travelers Aid society. This uniform will have to be protected by law, for it is charged that the agencies of vice even appear at times in the uniforms of nuns and Salvation army ladies. It is believed that a national body could secure adequate protective legislation.

So many sided is the work of the travelers' aid that it cannot be adequately done as one branch of religious work. It takes, for example, a certain degree of detective skill, and it also requires a legal department. As it was defined before the recent convention of the Young Women's Christian associations, "The travelers' aid deals with the reasons why persons leave home; protect them through all the vicissitudes and ramifications of travel, until they arrive at the desired destination, and, if strangers, sees that they are housed in a safe home or respectable boarding house, and in charge of the organization, which is best equipped to serve their need."

A New York Woman's Work.
 Miss Grace Dodge, who is perhaps the foremost figure in the National Young Women's Christian association, has long had aid for travelers as a special interest. She originated and was the first president of the New York city's Travelers Aid society which keeps its representatives at the stations and docks of New York.

Here in miniature is the sort of work that is proposed for the whole nation. This New York society is composed of men and women of many religious and philanthropic affiliations. It has thus kept free from charges of sectarianism or personal interest. The personnel of the New York society includes representatives of the Young Women's Christian association, the Roman Catholic charity organizations, the Hebrew societies, the King's Daughters, the railroad and steamship companies, in addition to certain individuals with special qualifications. The success of the New York work has made it natural that this should be a basis for the new organization.

Who Would Get Together?
 The three largest factors in the National Travelers Aid society will be the Ehrhart made the trip from Denver to Vernal in two and a half days through Grand, Rout and Moffat counties.

WHAT THE CHURCH FOLK ARE THINKING ABOUT THE DOG

Sunday School Lesson and Young People's Topics

International Sunday School Lesson for September 7, is "The Ten Commandments" (Part One) Exodus 20:1-11.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

There is one thing which history taught more clearly than another, that a nation cannot lose its religious integrity. In the history of the world, in epoch after epoch, has been the story of nations that have lost their integrity, and have become a mass of moral degeneracy. The story of the fall of the Roman Empire is a story of the fall of a nation that had lost its religious integrity. The story of the fall of the American Republic is a story of the fall of a nation that had lost its religious integrity.

Why Heaven Cares for Earth. Nobody who starts to thinking of the fundamental things will find himself confronting the proposition that if there is a God, he must be interested in man. This is clear from the nature of the world, and from the nature of human life and history. The long evolution of the race, the long struggle for existence, the long struggle for the survival of the fittest, all these things are part of a plan, a plan that has a purpose, a purpose that is the will of God.

fundamentally and most essentially, the Sabbath is needed because it is the day that reminds men of God. It puts thoughts of him, with all the uplift and sanctification which this implies, into the hearts of the people, for our basic need is to remember God; or as the summary of these commandments, given by Jesus, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart."

THE SECRET SPRINGS OF LIFE

Three Comments Upon the Uniform Prayer Meeting Topic of the Young People's Societies, Christian Endeavor, etc., for September 7, "The Ideal Christian IX. His Faith." John 5:1-15.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

The town of Bellefonte, Pennsylvania, takes its name from a wonderful spring, which supplies the community with water, and pours off in waste enough to meet the needs of tens of thousands more. The great crystal pool is in the center of the town, but its hidden sources are out of sight, somewhere in the hills. No man can tell really whence comes the water which is the luxury and pride of the neighborhood. All refreshing streams, like Bellefonte's spring, rise from hidden sources. Nobody can follow back to its beginnings the power of a life of beauty and blessing. The great wells of being—love, hope, faith, gratitude—are all in the recesses of the life hid with Christ in God is itself sanctified from human gaze; but its outflowing streams are for the world's use. The essential thing about any person, be he religious or nonreligious, is the nature of the springs that feed his soul. For the Christian, the principal function is faith in God.

Oh Christ, he is the fountain.

The pure sweet well of love;

The streams on earth I've tasted.

More deep I'll drink above;

There to an ocean fullness.

His mercy doth expand.

And glory dwelleth

In Immanuel's land.

Insatiable, incomprehensible, ever mysterious—such is faith. Yet its victories are the most tangible facts in history. The things that are seen are temporal, but the things that are unseen are eternal.

Faith works two ways. Man's trust in Christ, but Christ's trust in man. The mighty battery, "Have faith in God," is reechoed, "God has faith in man." The relationship between God and man is one of mutual trust.

Times without number, and never once too often, it has been said that Christianity is a life, and not a mere creedal subscription. Faith is not of words, but of work. Christian character is God's proof that man's pledge has not been misplaced. The apostolic proof of faith is not profession, but performance; not lip-loyalty, but loving life.

Faith is merely believing that God will do what he says.

Nobody who has open eyes can deny that there are within his knowledge men and women who live the heavenly life on the earthly plane. Their characters are lovely. Their objectives are otherworldly. Their life is hid with Christ in God, so that the beholder can attest the truth of their confession, when they say, with Paul, "I have been crucified with Christ; nevertheless, I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me, and that life which I now live in the flesh I live by faith, the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me."

God helps those who cannot help themselves, but believe he can help them.

Last night my friend said to me, "It is almost 10 o'clock. Put the receivers of this wireless receiving apparatus on your ears, and you will hear Arlington signal the correct time."

Then he told me how the sound would come. I did as he instructed, and promptly at five minutes of ten the prearranged signal began to come from the wireless station and observatory, just outside of Washington, and I set my watch by the government's standard time. By faith I took that message. I could not see the Arlington observatory, hundreds of miles away. No wires connected us. I do not fully understand the scientific process of wireless telegraphy. But I believed my friend, and it all befell as he said, and my watch was correctly regulated. So it is with faith in Christ. When we accept his word, even though we are ignorant of the processes, experience befalls as he promises, and our lives are newly adjusted to his standard.

"Faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of God." We get faith from the Bible. There is more of the stuff of which faithful hearts are made in the eleventh chapter of Hebrews than in the longest essay upon the subject. It is well to pray for faith; but it is better to read the Bible for it.

The heart of faith is the secret of the life of victory. Conquest follows confidence. They greatly triumph who greatly trust. "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith!"

As Browning says, every life has two aspects:

"God be thanked."

The meanness of his creature has two sides:

One to look on the world with:

The other to show a woman when he loves her."

This spiritual side of life is the most real. A man's faith is of more concern to his fellow men, than his bank account.

"THE GRAFTERS" CLOSING TILL AT THE BURNS

Mr. Walter Richardson, leading man of the Burns players at the Burns theatre, has personated many characters of the stage and to hear him tell of his experiences is like taking a holiday excursion with some of the people who have thrilled and touched thousands of auditors. Mr. Richardson has played more than 400 leading roles in the best plays ever produced upon the American stage.

"In order to gain success an actor must tell unceasingly in every case," said this well known leading man to a reporter, "for the secret of success is constancy to purpose."

"Do you ever tire of the endless execution of continuous theatricals and performances in stock work?" Would plains why stock players work so hard

and faithfully for success.
This week is your last opportunity to see the popular Burns Stock company. This is closing week, and you cannot afford to miss "The Grafters," which is the best comedy offered this season. Every night this week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

A THRILLING ADV.

Although it is claimed for the Oklahoma Ranch Wild West that it is one of the most complete and interesting expositions of real border life ever organized, there is an evident desire on the part of the management to give the public even more than its money's worth. This is evidenced by the addition of the thrilling triple somersaultturning automobile to the already long

A Very Dramatic Scene From That Masterpiece of All the Political Plays,
"The Grafters." Which is the Farewell Bill for This Season's Closing at the Burns Theatre, Opening Monday Night, September 8, and All Week. With Matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

you not prefer to go out upon the road with a single production? Mr. Richardson was asked.

"No, one may become very weary of impersonating one character week after week and month after month. It is the novelty of new phases of life that causes one to forget the grind of stock. Moreover, the experience gained in playing so many different parts is very valuable training, particularly for the younger actors. I have played Hamlet one week, and the next week the leading role in "Macbeth" or "Othello" one week, and next a George M. Cohan musical comedy, whimsical full of laughter and nonsense, at the same time studying an emotional lead for some great society drama for the ensuing week."

"A stock actor must certainly need to be versatile," said the interviewer.
"Yes, he must sing as best he can if called upon by the part he plays.
He must dance gracefully, be able to fence with skill, to impersonate a clever thief one week, as in "Raffles," and the next play the part of a clergyman, as in "The Christian." He may not have a trained voice but his dramatic skill often enables him to touch the hearts of an audience through his songs. His fencing must not be faked, for our audiences have become versed in the ethics of sword play."

"How does the stock actor manage to become so perfect in his parts with so little time to study?" asked the interviewer. "Sometimes New York producers send in a floor, with half the people forgetting their lines. I the same play given after a few rehearsals by a stock company proves a rousing success. How is that?"

"That is a matter not easily explained," said Mr. Richardson. The secret probably is that there is more harmony among stock players than among the players secured for a New York production. Then the stage director has a great deal to do with it. The director of a stock company knows just what each one of his people can do and he fits them into the parts as one fits the intricate patterns of a mosaic to make a perfect whole. Petty jealousies of a one star company are unknown in stock. For each actor in turn through the medium of the changing bills from week to week, is given a chance for good work and through this chance win the plaudits of the people. Often times the actor or actress who usually plays bit roles becomes as popular with the audience as the leads. That is because at some time or other the stage director has given them a chance to play a part worth while. And that perhaps explains why stock players work so hard

and faithfully for success.
This week is your last opportunity
to see the popular Burns Stock company. This is closing week, and you cannot afford to miss "The Grafters,"
which is the best comedy offered this season. Every night this week, with
matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Director Fred G. Fink of the Stratton park orchestra has arranged a the dance at Stratton park pavilion this evening. Next week dances will be given Tuesday and Friday nights.
